Part 1

Read the text. Choose the correct ending (A,B,C,D) to the sentences 1-7.

In 1997, a group of twenty British women made history. Working in five teams with four women in each team, they walked to the North Pole. Apart from one experienced female guide, the other women were all ordinary people who had never done anything like this in their lives before. They managed to survive in an environment which had defeated several very experienced men during the same few spring months of that year. Who were these women and how did they succeed where others failed?

In 1995 an advertisement about a selection for the expedition was put in several British newspapers. Nearly one hundred women took part in the first selection weekend and then, after several training expeditions designed to weed out unsuitable applicants, twenty women were chosen. The youngest of these was twenty-one and the oldest fifty-one. In the group there was a mother of triplets, a teacher, a flight attendant and even a film producer.

They were a mixed bunch but they all really wanted to take part in the venture and make it a success. Each of the women agreed to raise the £2500 needed for the expenses and the airfare to Canada, where the expedition began. They also committed themselves to following an intensive physical training programme before leaving the UK so that they were fit enough to take part in the expedition without endangering their own or others' lives.

The women set off as soon as they were ready. Once in the ice, each woman had to ski along while dragging a sledge weighting over 50 kilos. This would not have been too bad on a smooth surface, but for long stretches, the Arctic ice is pushed up into huge mounds two or three metres high and the sledges had to be hauled up one side and carefully let down the other side so that they didn't smash. The temperature was always below freezing point and sometimes strong winds made walking while pulling so much weight almost impossible. It was also very difficult to put up their tents when they stopped each night.

In such conditions the women were making good progress if they covered fourteen or fifteen kilometers a day. But there was another problem. Part of the journey was across a frozen sea with moving water underneath the ice and at some points the team would drift back more than five kilometers during the night. That meant that after walking in these very harsh conditions for ten hours on one day, they had to spend part of the next day covering the same ground again. Furthermore, each day it would take three hours from waking up to setting off and another three hours every evening to set up the camp and prepare the evening meal.

So, how did they manage to succeed? They realised that they were part of a team. If any one of them didn't pull her sledge or get her job done, she would be jeopardizing the success of the whole expedition. Any form of selfishness could result in the efforts of everyone else being completely wasted, so personal feelings had to be put to one side. At the end of their journey, the women agreed that it was mental effort far more than physical fitness that got them to the North Pole.

1. What was so extraordinary about the expedition?

- A) There was no one to lead it.
- B) The women did not have any men with them.
- C) The women had not met one another before.
- D) It was a new experience for most of the women.

2. What did the women who answered the advertisement have in common?

- A) They all wanted to achieve a goal.
- B) They had all suffered pain and discomfort.

3

- C) They all had plenty of money.
- D) They were about the same age.

3. What does underlined 'these' refer to?

- A) all the applicants
- B) the training expeditions
- C) the women who went on the trip
- D) the unsuitable applicants

4. What did each woman have to do before the start of the expedition?

- A) visit Canada
- B) learn to ski
- C) get fit
- D) meet the other women

5. On the expedition, the women had to be careful to avoid

- A) falling over on the ice.
- B) being left behind.
- C) getting too cold at night.
- D) damaging the sledges.

6. It was difficult for the women to cover 15 kilometres a day because

- A) the ice was moving.
- B) they got too tired.
- C) they kept getting lost.
- D) the temperatures were too low.

7. What is the main message of the text?

- A) Women can do anything they want.
- B) Motivation and teamwork achieve goals?
- C) It is sometimes good to experience difficult conditions.
- D) Arctic conditions are very harsh.

10. B, perhaps the most famous is Mussorgsky's Pictures at an Exhibition. Mussorgsky composed the piece in 1874 after the death, at the age of 39, of the artist Victor Hartmann.
11. C, Mussorgsky was shattered by Hartmann's untimely death. The following year a critic, Vladimir Stasov, decided to hold an exhibition of Hartmann's work. He suggested that Mussorgsky try to soothe his grief by writing something to commemorate Hartmann's life and work. The exhibition served as Mussorgsky's inspiration. The ten pieces that make up Pictures at an Exhibition are intended as symbols 12. A. Between each is a promenade, as the composer walks from one painting to another. The music is sometimes witty and playful, sometimes almost alarming and frightening, but always spellbinding. Through a range of startling contrasts, Mussorgsky managed to convey the spirit of the artist and his work. 13. B, the composer Ravel, who had already managed to carry off successful adaptation of many works for solo instruments, wrote an orchestral version of Pictures at an Exhibition in 1922.

- A. rather than representations of the paintings in the exhibition
